Introduction to GPP

"An opportunity to meet the business counterparts of leading Korean companies in the construction, plant, engineering and finance industries"

This event is designed to bring together government organizations, major international clients, developers, EPC companies and finance institutions with competitive Korean companies.

GPP 2015 will offer foreign attendees a chance to introduce their projects to potential Korean partners and to have one-on-one project meetings, also to proceed projects discovered from previous Global Project Plaza. It will be a great opportunity to establish networks with representatives of Korean construction, plant, engineering and finance companies.

Why RailLog Korea?

Busan - hub city of transportation and logistics in Northeast Asia

RailLog Korea presents great growth potential, thanks to the geographical benefits of Busan, the fairground, as the very starting point and final destination of the Trans-Asian Railway (TAR) network. In addition, Busan is a hub city where all logistics functions, including railroad, port, air and highway are integrated. Busan boasts advanced logistics infrastructure equipped with New Port logistics complex connected to railroads, aiming to be the genuine hub of logistics in Northeast Asia.

The railway industry is booming in Korea, as eco-friendly transportation

South Korea's central and local governments are promoting the construction/ expansion of railways and subways, eco-friendly alternatives to road transportation, aiming for a Green Transportation Era. A total of 70 construction projects with 3,047km length of high-speed, conventional and inter-city railways are now underway, with additional 1,051km construction projects planned.
