Cross-border eSolution/eService Prototype Development

Prototype title: Achieving behavioral change with (tracking) sustainability indicators in buildings (case of Universities of Danube region)

Short description of the prototype (problem to be solved, expected benefits, main stakeholders, expansion opportunities, related EU projects, references):

EnerEye is an information system for monitoring energy efficiency. It enables us to inspect the energy consumers in the organization and detect any energy losses, deficiencies in the use of energy sources and opportunities for improvement. Through the efficient monitoring of energy source consumption and implementing related measures, it will reduce energy consumption by 7 to 40 %. In addition to financial savings, measures adopted with the help of Energy Eyes for organizations will contribute significantly to the reduction of environmental stress. With it, we will be able to control the management of processes relating to energy sources such as water, air, gas, electricity, cold, heat, emissions in participating organizations.

Energy Eyes for organizations will enable us to:

- ascertain energy efficiency of the participating organizations and explain costs,
- compare efficiency among all participating organizations,
- allocate costs at the level of departments or individual processes.

In this pilot we suggest to involve in the few of faculties from the Dunab region. Results will be very useful for the region such as for each organization.

ICT requirements for the prototype deployment:
