Salon Infirmier 2018: a three-day trade show dedicated to the nursing profession, for training, information and networking

The next edition of the Paris Healthcare Week will be held from 29 to 31 May 2018. The Salon Infirmier trade show will take place in hall 7.3, with its own entrance.

New: Trade show open until 8 pm on Wednesday 30 May.

The Salon Infirmier trade show has been the benchmark event for the nursing profession for more than 30 years. It creates an opportunity for all parties involved in the provision of care, including professional care providers, public and private sector healthcare executives, and healthcare providers working independently or as part of an association, to meet more than 100 exhibitors. It encompasses 100 conferences, round-table discussions, debates, workshops and demonstrations, such as the simulation of care scenarios, practical workshops on treating burns, home care for independent providers, and surgical suite procedures.

The three main themes of the 2018 programme

Coordinating care throughout the treatment process

Nurses are involved in prevention, education and the provision of care throughout a patient's treatment. By drawing up specific treatment plans, providers can offer optimal care as and when healthcare problems arise. The effectiveness of this care is dependent on coordination of the various actions undertaken throughout a patient's clinical treatment. Healthcare professionals, medical centres, facilities, regional hospital consortia and networks will all be sharing their experience.

Specialist training and ensuring user safety

The expertise of healthcare professionals in general and nurses in particular is key to the quality of care provided, resulting in a need for initial training and continuing professional development. This is an area in which an increasingly wide range of options is available. Finding the most relevant or appropriate training course or series of courses is not easy. Information and advice can be found in the training area of the Infirmier trade show.

Taking care of carers

The Salon Infirmier provides visitors with information and training in order to meet the requirements of the DGOS (French department for the provision of care), which, in 2018, declared that healthcare professionals must, as a priority, receive training in vigilance, prevention, protection and reaction, in order to improve safety in the context of incivility, malicious acts, major accidents, terrorism and attacks, etc.

The Salon Infirmier is an Initiatives Santé event, organised by PG Promotion.
