SHORT DESCRIPTION OF THE COMPANY

Texelis is a French company, specialist of mobility solutions for land defense. An heir of the Renault defense activities, Texelis has been involved in producing mobility components for major French Army programs such as VAB and VBCI for decades.

After getting independent in 2008, Texelis has specialized in developing, producing and assembling full systems such as axles both for Defense and rail. In 2018, Texelis was selected with its partner KNDS France to procure the new French Army's 4x4, 18-tonne APC Serval. In the framework of this contract, Texelis is responsible for the whole mobility package.

Texelis is now a partner of choice to produce 4x4, 6x6 and 8x8 vehicles, locally.

VALUE PROPOSITION OFFERING

From the experience on Serval, Texelis has launched a unique offer named CELERIS: a complete, packaged, fully customizable mobility solution to create fully new vehicles locally, with a focus on the 4x4, 13-18 tonne range. Texelis gives full support for vehicle design, guarantees the production and quality of mobility kits, assists throughout the development and qualification of the prototypes. At the end of production, the vehicle is fully owned, fully supported and can be exported by the partner company. The hardware is based on the mobility kits developed for Serval, which guarantees low prices for the level of performance and support offered, as well as 40+ support and further development.

REFERENCES IN DEFENCE INDUSTRY

Texelis has a contract to supply the French Army with more than 2,000 Serval vehicles alongside partner KNDS France. The production will be ongoing until 2035+ and will represent about 45% of all the new combat vehicles for the Army in more than 35 configurations on the same base.

Texelis supplies most of the mobility components for Yugoimport's Milosh, Milosh 2 and Lazar armored vehicles produced for the Serbian army and export markets.

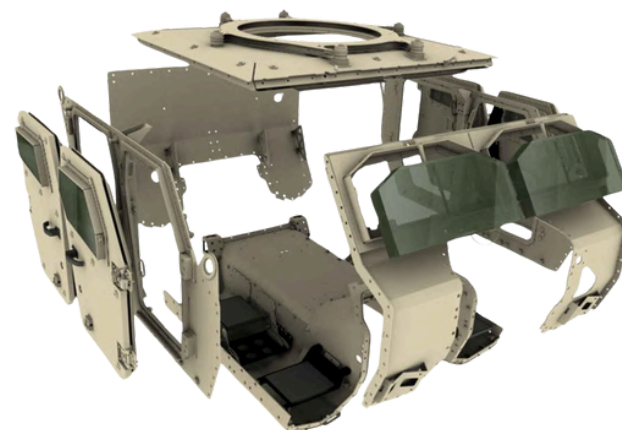

Texelis also supplies axles and other systems to Sisu in Finland (GTP 4x4 vehicle).
